RE: AmericanLife TV NetworkSM Descriptive Video Narration

Dear Chairman Martin:

It was a pleasure to meet you and Heather Dixon regarding your call for increased “family friendly” programming options on cable television and AmericanLife’s descriptive video narration programming for visually impaired Americans. In response to your request for additional information regarding descriptive video narration and the cable industry’s use thereof, I have enclosed the following:

1. List of Cable Networks Providing Descriptive Video Narration.
2. Description of The Narrative Television Network (NTN) and its relationship with AmericanLife.
3. NTN pricing.

AmericanLife is in the process of compiling information to respond to your additional inquiries regarding independent cable networks and retransmission consent and will submit those responses by separate cover letter.

If you have any further inquiries on this matter, please direct them to my attention.

Sincerely,
Stacey R. Werner
